

Abstract

An underwater sound source which comprises a housing having an inner and an outer surface and a monopole driver suspended within the center of the housing. The housing is adapted to receive fluid therein to form a fluid column inside the housing. The underwater sound source resonates at a frequency of 260 Hz when the monopole driver excites the fluid column.

5

10054206 01202